Dear Mr. Koloff,

Thank you for presenting a motivating and positive message to our students on personal responsibility and choices. Your approach engaged the interest of the students.

During these sometimes-difficult times in the lives of middle school children, it is beneficial to hear a message about building character and personal responsibility. Your experience in the professional world of wrestling made a connection with the students. They were attentive throughout the program especially during the video presentation.

As schools search for resources to communicate positive messages regarding responsibility, integrity, honesty, and commitment, it is good to know there are dedicated people like you that take the time to present programs that students will listen and respond to in a positive manner.

I appreciate you making time to visit with some of our students after the program and want to thank you again for sharing with them your life experiences. I highly recommend you to any school.

Sincerely,
